Eli Coble who has about eighty swaiius in Langstroth hives with a few in the Triumph. Coble is one of the best posted bee-men that we have in our country, his bees are all Italians. He has now one of the Nunn importation of queens, and is breeding from her, she is rather dark, but I like them the best; as I think they make the best workers. I also have one that was brought by the Nunn Bros. , Oberlin, Ohio, last spring; her workers are very fine, the young queens from her are rather da k. We don. t make any box or comb honey--use the extractor altogether. A two story Langstroth, of a good season, should make one hundred fbs. I had one that I took 254 lbs from last year during the poplar bloom. It made, some days, eleven lbs per day. I have tried one of the spread out Langstroth or rather, a single story made wide enough to hold twenty frames. I do not like toqm as well as the two story Langstroth. My hives have ten frames in the lower or brood department, and nine in the same space above, that is. the top box is the same as the lower in width. I have no honey board at all, and do not leave more than inch between the bottom of the upper set of frames and the top of the lower set,...
