This is the reciprocal of Question 8733--That if the $2m$ intersections of a conic and an m -ic curve be joined two and two, the m right lines so determined will cut the m -ic again in $m(m-2)$ points lying on an $(m-2)$ -ic. Question 9513 follows when the conic consists of two coincident points and this introduces the idea of a curve which is the satellite of a point with respect to a given curve of class m . In the particular case of a class cubic, say a cuspidal cubic or tricuspidal quartic, it follows that, if three tangents be drawn from a point to the curve, the three tangents which can be drawn to the curve from the points of contact all pass through the same point. Similarly, if tangents be drawn from any point to a class quartic, nodal cubic say, the eight tangents which can be drawn from the points of contact touch the same conic. 9958. (R-H. W. Whapham.)--ABC is a given triangle, P any point in BC; find points Q and R in CA and AB respectively, such that the centroid of the triangle PQR may coincide with that of the triangle ABC. Solution by R. F. Davis, M.A.; J. C. St. Clair; and others. Let G be the common centroid; produce PG to p so that $PG = 2Qp$, then p is the mid-point of the side QR. Produce Ap to U so that $Ap = pV$, parallels through U to CA,...
