Not illustrated. 1856 Excerpt: . that the multiples and sub-multiples of these unite should be denoted by the words Deca, Hecto, Myria, for the ascending series, and Deci, Centi, Milli, for the decreasing series. Such was the origin of the decimal system definitively completed by the law of the 7th Germinal, in the year XI (28 March, 1803), which established on the same principle the divisions, the weight, and the fineness of the coins. In seeking these fundamental units in nature, and in giving them denominations not derived from any living language, the Commission aimed at respecting the susceptibility of nations, and thus facilitating the spread of a grandly conceived innovation. However, two systems presented themselves: the Duo-decimal Calculus had also its partizans. But, in order that this method might be acceptable and complete, it would have been necessary to add two characters to the ciphers in common use; and...
