Mr. Joseph A. Rogers, a graduate of the school, lately attached to the National Observatory in Washington, and now an officer of the Hydrographical office, secured from the proper authorities and forwarded to us a collection of five hundred and sixtythree charts, published by the British Admiralty from the surveys of different governments in all quarters of the globe. From the Hon. Hamilton Fish, U. S. Secretary of State, the school has received, through Professor W. P. Blake, some important geological works on the Gold Fields and Mineral Deposits of Victoria, forwarded to the U. S. Government by the Trustees of the Melbourne Public Library. The following letter, which explains the character of the...
